Medical Consulting Group and Corcoran Consulting Group Finalize Merger Agreement

Springfield, MO, July 11, 2023. Medical Consulting Group (MCG), a provider of consulting services to ophthalmic practices and companies, and Corcoran Consulting Group (CCG), a company specializing in billing, coding, and reimbursement issues for ophthalmology and optometry practices, have finalized their merger that was announced last April. “The completing of this agreement will allow us to serve the ophthalmic community by cross-offering services to clients of both Medical Consulting Group and Corcoran Consulting Group.” - Rob McCarville, Managing Principal for MCG. Kevin Corcoran, of Corcoran Consulting Group added, “This opens a world of opportunities for all our clients. Everything from training, coding consultation and revenue cycle management, to practice and ASC development, can now all be performed by experienced and trusted professionals operating under the same umbrella.”

Since 1986, CCG has served thousands of physicians in ophthalmic and optometric practices in all 50 states, providing reimbursement, chart audits, and coding education. MCG has been providing services to ophthalmic and optometric practices since 1989, having consulted with clinical practices in 44+ states and developed over 105 ambulatory surgery centers (ASCs). MCG also provides practice and ASC management services including ASC development, revenue cycle management, accounting, medical marketing, consulting, and more.

With this completed merger, both companies have expanded to provide client-oriented business solutions that span the full spectrum of medical practice operations. Clients will now have a larger team to draw upon with talent to support the increasingly complicated back-office functions and regulatory compliance issues they face. “We are pleased to partner with CCG as they have been the gold-standard in billing, coding, auditing, and reimbursement in the ophthalmic world. Their dedicated professionals match our outstanding level of client service, and we look forward to the future with them.” - Erin Malloy, Managing Principal for Medical Consulting Group.
